DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-9, drawn to a method purchasing products, updating product databases and access provisioning, classified in class 705, subclass 26, 707 subclass 9 and 709 subclass 213 respectively.
- II. Claim 10, drawn to an apparatus for purchasing products, updating product databases and access provisioning, classified in class 705, subclass 26, 707 subclass 9 and 709/213 respectively.
- III. Claims 11-19, drawn to code for purchasing products, updating product databases and access provisioning, classified in class 705, subclass 26, 707 subclass 9 and 709/213 respectively.
- IV. Claim 20, drawn to a system for purchasing products, updating product databases and access provisioning, classified in class 705, subclass 26, 707 subclass 9 and 709/213 respectively.

Inventions I and (II,III and IV) are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case Group I is distinguishable from groups II,III and IV, at least because group I can be done by hand.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group I is not required for Groups II, III and IV, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Inventions II and III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention III has separate utility such as being capable of operating on an apparatus different from that claimed in Group II. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group II is not required for Group III, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Inventions II and IV are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention IV has separate utility such as being capable of operating on an apparatus different from that claimed in Group II further Group II does not require a plurality of networks. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group II is not required for Group IV, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Inventions III and IV are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention III has separate utility such as being capable of operating on an apparatus different from that claimed in Group IV further Group III does not require a plurality of networks. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group III is not required for Group IV, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

This application further contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

Group I or III if elected will be further restricted as possessing different patentable species as follows:

Group IA – claims 1,2,3,6,7, directed to a method directed to determining when to send hardware.

Group IB – claims 1,2,4,6,8, directed to a method directed to creating an account for a consumer.

Group IC – claims 1,2,5,6,9, directed to a method creating and obtaining a postal license.

Group IIIA – claims 11,12,13,16,17 directed to developing code to determine when to send hardware.

Group IIIB – claims 11,12,14,16,18, directed to developing code for creating an account for a consumer.

Group IIIC - claims 11,12,15,16,19 directed to code for creating and obtaining a postal license.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claims I and II are generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.
